

Life's Mirror

There are loyal hearts, there are spirits brave,
There are souls that are pure and true;
Then give to the world the best you have
And the best will come back to you.

Give love and love to your life will flow,
A strength in your utmost need;
Have faith and a score of hearts will show
Their faith in your word and deed.

Give truth and your gift will be paid in kind,
And honor will honor meet.
And a smile that is sweet will surely find
A smile that is just as sweet.

For life is a mirror of king and slave,
'Tis just what we are and do;
Then give to the world the best you have
And the best will come back to you.

EXPLANATIONS

IN this work the family heads are arranged somewhat differently from that in common use; as the title-page implies, this is a record of the descendants of Capt. Benjamin Barnes. In the family headings the descendant, whether male or female, is placed first; hence the wife, in cases where she is the descendant, will have her name placed before that of her husband. The direct descent back to Capt. Benjamin is given in small type directly under each family heading.

The family heads will be in larger, black-face type, and the direct ancestors' birth number and name in record of ancestors the same. Consecutive numbers will be given children as they appear in this book; these will be in smaller light-face type. To trace any one's descent back and find dates of births and marriages, take descendant's number at family heading and turn back until you find same number under heading of children; then take the number of family head under which you will find your first number and turn back until you find that number in same manner, until you come to Capt. Benjamin.

Instead of making the order by generations, as is commonly done in genealogies, I take the children in order from oldest to youngest and carry their line down to the present time. For instance: Capt. Benjamin had but three children, who married and had descendants, — Elijah, Lucy, and Benjamin Jr. Their order in this book will be first, Elijah; second, Benjamin; Jr., third, Lucy and Charles Curtiss. Elijah's first child was Laura; her descendants will in their order be brought down to the present time. Then next Lucy treated in the same way, and so on down to his last child Sophia.

INTRODUCTORY AND APOLOGETICAL

As a man's memory cannot extend back beyond his birth nor forward after his death, with some deduction at the beginning at least, all historical matters which he may produce extending outside the scope of his memory must be taken from history or the word of others.

So in case of this work, while much of it is from memory and records of my own, much more is gleaned from records (many of them contradictory) and from persons living, as to their own families, and in this there are many discouragements. While a few will answer inquiries promptly and fully, much the greater part will delay for weeks or months, and some will not answer at all, even when addressed envelope and postage is sent them. The first class have my hearty thanks and gratitude; the second, my conditional thanks and sympathy; but toward the last I refrain from making any expression of my feelings here. This will be all the apology I shall make for blank spaces and errors.

Many attempts have been made, and are still being made, by individuals to get up genealogies of all the people of any one name from their origin, this must of necessity prove a failure; or even of all branches of same name who came to this country, although such productions are of great value and wide interest. This will be more apparent when you apply it individually. Take yourself as one: you had two parents, a father and mother, four grandparents, eight great-grandparents and carry this on back for twelve generations (three hundred years) and you find you had two thousand and forty-eight direct parents and grandparents. Carry this back another three hundred years to twenty-four generations and you find that in six hundred years you have had the enormous sum of eight million, three hundred eighty-eight thousand, six hundred and eight direct parents.

For these reasons the writer believes that ancestral history can best be preserved by taking up, by some interested member of a family line, from grandfather or great-grandfather, bringing same down to the present, than by undertaking such a herculean task as getting all lines of any name, and a greater semblance of accuracy can be obtained.

My experience, extending over a period of about ten years, satisfies me that any one undertaking it will find that the labor and expense will be sufficient to satisfy his ambition in this direction.

I believe that greater interest and care should be taken in keeping and preserving individual family records for the benefit of posterity.

A. T. BARNES.

THE NAME BARNES

Very little, I might say nothing, is known as to our direct line in England. There were many prominent men in high positions there by this name among the gentry. There were also many among the sturdy yeomanry.

When in Scotland in 1899, I visited the Historic Library in Glasgow, but could find nothing to connect our ancestor, Thomas Barnes, with any of the many lines of our name which I found there.

A friend of mine well versed in genealogical matters told me once that I was descended from the line of martyrs of that name, who were burned at the stake for their religious beliefs because they would not recant.

Savage says in his Genealogical Dictionary, "The patronymic Barnes was originally spelled 'Bainie,' probably from the Saxon 'Beoon,' or, which is more likely, from the Norse 'Bjorne,' a warrior." T. C. Barnes, in "The Barnes Family Year Book," says it "was brought to England by William the Conqueror, being the name of his trusted aide."

COAT OF ARMS

I have been asked many times what the Barnes coat of arms was.

So far as I have been able to learn, we can lay no claim to one. While there were a number of tribes or lines of this name in England who belonged to the gentry and had them of different designs, none can be traced to our ancestor who came to this country, viz., Thomas Barnes of New Haven, Conn., to whom we are able to trace our ancestry with certainty. For my part, I am content to believe that I am descended from the sturdy yeomanry and to be taken for what I am, and not for what my ancestors have been.

I have heard a story which I believe to be true; that some time after the Revolutionary War, Capt. Benjamin Barnes sold a cow to one who claimed to belong to the gentry, and who made out the bill. “——— Gentleman, bought of Benjamin Barnes, Yeoman, — One red cow,” etc.

CAPTAIN BENJAMIN BARNES

WAS the seventh child of Ebenezer and Mehitable (Miller) Barnes; born in Middletown, Conn., where his parents resided until some time between 1750-60, when they moved to West Granville, Mass., in which town Capt. Benjamin lived until his death, and his remains were buried in the cemetery there, which I have visited many times in the past thirty years.

Unfortunately, there is no picture of him in existence, and probably none was ever made. He, as well as his ancestors, were thrifty farmers and well-to-do in those times, all of them known to be landowners and prominent in the towns where they lived. Capt. Benjamin bought land in Granville in 1769, 1770, and 1772, the latter the tract on which he built the house, a picture of which is shown in this book.

As he died two years before I was born I have no means of knowing his personal appearance only by hearsay. He was physically a strong man, of medium stature and of kind and genial temperament, ever kind but strict in his family, honorable in his dealings with his fellow men, and a Christian,—by profession a Presbyterian, but when Methodism came to Granville in 1792-95 he became much interested, but whether he ever joined that denomination I do not know. Nothing I can say will better illustrate the kind of a man he was than to copy from “The History of the Introduction of Methodism into the Towns of Blanford and Granville,” by Armor Hamilton.

“ Soon after, the meetings were removed to Capt. Benjamin Barnes, and a class formed of Anah Barnes, Benjamin Barnes, and Edward Bancroft. He was class leader. About this time, another class was formed in Granville upon Beach Hill. This class was of five, David Frost and wife, Rubin Farnum and wife, and the wife of Dan Robinson. This year, 1793, the first quarterly meeting of which there is any record was held in Capt. Barnes’ barn, on the 18th of June; Thomas Ware was P. R. Elder and Joel Ketchum preached in the afternoon. The Love Feast was held in a room in the Captain’s house and not half full.”

About this time Methodism began to increase and spread far and wide.

The Standing Order opposed, disputed, and preached loudly against the errors of Methodism, but God blessed the work and prospered it; and while some opposed, others opened their hearts to do good. An instance of the kind I must relate.

In the year 1795 (by this time Granville had become a Circuit), Lemuel Smith was appointed to Granville Circuit. He brought his family to Capt. Barnes' to stay a few days until he could find a place for them to live. He set off to look for a place, and after spending two days, he returned discouraged, not having found a house he could get for his family. "Now," says the Captain, "you have spent two days among your Brethren and cannot find a house. Now, we will see what an old Presbyterian can do. There is a shop; we will go and see what can be done with it."

They went, and found with a little repairs it would make the family comfortable, and they moved in and were comfortably provided for.

When it came time to provide hay for his horse, Smith told the Captain he wanted a place to put some hay and a stable for his horse. "Oh," says the Captain, "it will only be a bother; the hay will get mixed up; feed your horse, and we will make it all right." So the horse was fed.

When the Captain made cider, Smith said he wanted a barrel of cider. The Captain said take one, but Smith said he would not take it without pay. "Well, then, pay for it." So Smith took the cider.

In the spring, when Smith was about to remove, he called on the Captain for his account.

"Oh," says the Captain, "I have no account only for the barrel of cider; you said you would pay for that and you may give me seventy-five cents, that's all."

When twenty-two years old, he married Mary Coe of Middletown, Conn., daughter of Ephraim and Hannah Miller Coe, a most estimable lady, of a prominent family and a devout Christian woman. Reverend Timothy Cooley, who presided over the church at Granville Center for fifty years, in the early days of his pastorate, mentioned her with others as "being of the greatest assistance to him in church work."

She was the mother of all Capt. Benjamin's children. After her death in 1795 he married Lucretia Sacket, who was twice a widow; her first husband was Day, her second Miller. She died in 1832. She was two years his senior and died two years and one day before him, both being ninety-five years old at their death.

WAR RECORDS

While we have no authentic records of services rendered by the ancestors of Capt. Benjamin Barnes it is believed that some of them were engaged in some of the various "Scraps" with the Indians which were common to the early settlers and pioneers of this country.

CAPTAIN BENJAMIN BARNES, No. 1.

While a mere lad, sixteen to eighteen years old, was engaged in the French and Indian War against this country, then under the rule of England, 1755 to 1760.

One instance is given by a grandson of his as follows: "He was at Fort McHenry at the head of Lake George, when General Montcalm, with an army of French and Indians, came up by way of Lakes Champlain and George in sloopes, battoes, and canoes, capturing Forts Crown Point and Ticonderoga and surrounded Fort McHenry, demanding its surrender. The garrison, not being in condition to withstand a siege, was forced to comply. It was stipulated that they should retire with their camp equipage, leaving their arms and ammunition." Afterwards they were attacked by the Indians and many massacred. Young Barnes, it seems, was carrying provisions to the Fort with an ox team; he was overtaken and the hamstrings of the oxen cut with tomahawks, which let them down, and report says the Indians cut steaks out of their hams and had them roasting before the oxen were dead. Young Barnes escaped and succeeded in reaching Fort Edward."

ELIJAH BARNES, No. 3.

At the time of the War of 1812 was residing in the northeast part of New York State with his family, consisting of wife and seven children; although opposed to war was unintentionally drawn into it in following manner.

Among some boarders his family kept was one Capt. Finney, who had come to the town to enlist a company for the war; being a foppish dude, did not take well and met with poor success. Elijah, in a joking way, said, "if he had enlisting orders he could raise a company in half the time he had been at work." The Captain took him at his word, gave him a sergeant's commission with power to enlist, with verbal promise that when the squad was formed he, Finney, would take charge and release Elijah. The company was soon enlisted; when the sergeant (Elijah) got orders from headquarters to march his company into line, there being no redress he obeyed, although it was very repugnant to him. After the battle of Plattsburg, the division to which he belonged was ordered to Niagara. The march was made on foot. After arrival at Niagara he took part in the battles of Chippewa and Lundy's Lane, when he took a severe cold, obtained a furlough and started for home. His cold developed into pneumonia. He reached Albany, was admitted to the hospital at Greenbush across the river, where he died soon after, without reaching home or seeing any of his family.

DENNIS E. BARNES, No. 175.

At the breaking out of the Civil War was actively engaged in business in Schroon, Essex County, N. Y. Notwithstanding he could not long resist the call of his country. He raised a company, was unanimously elected Captain, and was assigned to the 93d Regiment, New York Volunteers, as Company C, and proved himself an able and humane officer. Was in command of the regiment while the Colonel and Major were prisoners and at one time commanded the brigade. Was killed on the morning of May 6th, 1864, the second day of the bloody battle of the Wilderness, and lies buried in an unknown grave but his fame as a kind, considerate, and Christian officer will be cherished as long as there is a comrade of the 93d Regiment living, and his memory will go down to posterity as one of the noble martyrs who gave his life for his country.

This Regiment did valiant service during the war under Generals McClellan, Burnside, Hooker, Mead, and Grant. Among the principal events in which they participated were the siege of Yorktown, Lee's Mills, Williamsburg, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Colter Station and the Wilderness. An interesting book could be written of this man's noble nature and deeds.

CHARLES T. BARNES, No. 182.

A younger brother of Captain Dennis E. Barnes. Both enlisted at the same time and served in the same regiment and company until the death of Capt. Dennis. Both enlisted for three years or during the war. Soon after enlistment was promoted from private to 5th sergeant and again to Orderly Sergeant of the company at the time of the battle of Fredericksburg, May 3d to 5th, 1862. Reënlisting as a veteran after two years' service, he was promoted to 2d Lieutenant in 1863. Was severely wounded at the battle of the Wilderness, May 5th, 1864. Promoted to 1st Lieutenant, Sept. 20th, 1864, and discharged in December, 1864, on account of his wound at the Wilderness.

On Oct. 23d, 1865, was promoted to rank of Brevet Captain for gallant and meritorious conduct in service. He is now a prosperous business man in Chicago.

WESLEY BARNES, No. 183.

Another brother of Capt. Dennis and next younger than Lieut. Charles T. He enlisted as a private in an old regiment of cavalry, served in the department of the Gulf, 19th Army Corps, their duty being that of raiding and skirmishing more than real heavy fighting, but was in several sharp engagements. Soon after enlistment he was promoted from private to Orderly Sergeant over all non-commissioned officers, and at one time in command of the Company. They had the advance of Gen. Steel's army from Pensacola, Florida, to Fort Blakely in rear of Mobile, Alabama, which was the last fort taken in the Civil War, it being on April 9th, 1865, the day General Lee surrendered. At the close of the war he returned to his home, since which he has been elected and served two terms as member of the New York State Legislature, and now resides at Olmstedville in that State. A civil engineer in active duty.

ALBERT A. BARNES, No. 313.

Was among the first to enlist in the Civil War from Le Claire, Iowa. He joined Capt. Robert Littler's company of Davenport, which afterwards became Co. B. of the famous 2d Iowa Infantry. He was with that regiment through all its battles and marches, of which the most important were Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Corinth and the battles in front and around Atlanta and Sherman's march to the sea and back through the Carolinas to Washington, D. C., where he marched in the grand review, and after four years and two months' service he was mustered out at Louisville, Ky., with rank of Adjutant of his regiment.

JOSEPH D. BARNES, No. 314.

The youngest son of Dennis Barnes, at the age of nineteen years enlisted as a private in Co. K. 20th Iowa Infantry, and for meritorious conduct at the battle of Prairie Grove in 1862 he was promoted to 2d Sergeant of his company. He afterwards participated in the capture of Vicksburg, 1863, and the siege and capture of Fort Morgan in 1864, and the siege and charge of Fort Blakely, April 19th, 1865 (which was the day that Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered), and the last important battle of the war. After almost three years of constant service he was promoted to be first Lieut. of his company.

ALBERT H. MACCARTHY, No. 332.

The third son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. MacCarthy, who was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., in the class of 1897, and was assigned to duty on the cruiser "Marblehead." On the breaking out of the Spanish-American War in 1898 he was transferred to the battleship "Massachusetts," and after the battle of Santiago he was transferred to the cruiser "Dixie," and participated in the Porto Rico campaign, after which the "Dixie" was put out of commission; he was then ordered to the battleship "Iowa," and with the battleship "Oregon" they made the trip around the Horn to San Francisco. He was then commissioned Ensign and ordered to the cruiser "Solace," bound for the Philippines. Arriving at Manila he was given command of a gunboat, and he operated in this capacity until the year 1901, when he was ordered to the flagship "New York," in which he made trips to Japan and other countries, returning to the United States in 1903. He was then appointed instructor in the Naval Academy at Annapolis and served two years, when he was again given the command of the torpedo boat destroyer "Stringham" and last the U. S. steamer "Prairie." In February, 1907, he resigned from the navy.

RAYMOND J. BARNES, No. 322.

Was in the Spanish-American War and was made Commissary Sergeant in the 12th United States Signal Corps and served under Capt. Frank Lyman in Cuba.

ISRAEL A. CONERY, Married Descendant, No. 179.

Was in the Civil War, enlisting in September, 1862, in Company D, 26th Regiment Iowa Volunteers. He saw no active service, as the southern climate brought on a complication of diseases which confined him to the hospital the greater part of the time, and after suffering for over a year he died, November 22, 1863.

NEWCOMB M. BARNES, No. 363.

"Was enrolled at the age of thirty-one as a Captain in Company (I) 101st Regiment Ohio Volunteer Infantry, on the first day of August, 1862, at Tiffin, Ohio, by Governor of Ohio, and was mustered into the United States service as such for the period of three years, on the thirtieth day of August, 1862, at Monroeville, Ohio, by Captain Drake, U. S. A. Musterin Officer, and his resignation was accepted Jan. 13, 1864, per S. O. No. 13, dated, Headquarters Department Cumberland."

This Regiment left camp near Cincinnati for Tennessee, with about eleven hundred men, and after arriving, were sent by forced marches to Stone River, and entered that bloody battle (with but a halt long enough for coffee) in which the Colonel, Lieutenant-Colonel, and six of the ten Captains were killed, and after which the Regiment did not muster four hundred men fit for duty.

He suffered terribly from poison ivy, which abounds in that section and to which he was extremely susceptible, frequently being unfit for duty, and which caused him to resign. He was the oldest brother of the writer.

CHARLES W. BARNES, No. 367.

Was the third person to enlist in Seneca County, Ohio, under the call of President Lincoln for seventy-five thousand volunteers for three months, and although but twenty years old was urged to run for the position of Captain in Company A., Eighth Ohio Volunteers, but declined and was made Second Lieutenant of the company. At the end of the three months he reënlisted for three years or during the war, was promoted to First Lieutenant and transferred to another Ohio Regiment. He was mortally wounded at the battle of Antietam, where he commanded his company, and died at Chambersburg, Pa., Oct. 4th, 1862. He was the youngest brother of the writer, who was with him when he died and took his remains to his home in Tiffin, Ohio, where they rest under a monument in the family lot in the cemetery of that city. While home on furlough in the spring of 1862, he joined the Masons, and was duly honored by the fraternity at Chambersburg while in the hospital there and at his death.

JAMES MCFARLANE, Married Descendant, No. 362.

Was born in England, Sept. 27th, 1831. At the time of his enlistment resided in Charlestown, Portage County, Ohio, enlisted at Ravenna, Ohio, in Company G., 7th Ohio Volunteer Infantry, June 20th, 1861, and was mustered out July 7th, 1864.

This regiment was organized at Camp Dennison in Ohio, June 19th, 1861, and left for the front, June 26th, 1861. Served in the army of the Potomac and was in the battles of Winchester, Cedar Mountain, Antietam, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Resaca, and many other minor battles and skirmishes. He returned to Charlestown and later removed to Elmira, N. Y., where he died July 20th, 1904.

EMERSON G. CURTISS, No. 621.

Enlisted in the Civil War in 1861, and was made Sergeant in Co. B., 2d Ohio Volunteer Cavalry, and served during the four years of the war. Afterwards, broken in health, received a pension. Was a lawyer by profession and a most exemplary Christian. His widow, Elizabeth B., is still living in Manistee, Michigan.

CHARLES E. CURTISS, No. 639.

Entered the Spanish-American War, enlisting in the 34th Regiment, Michigan Volunteers, and was made Sergeant; was afterwards promoted to Lieutenant in the Signal Service. Lived through the Cuban fever and returned home. He was a graduate of the University of Chicago and now engaged in the printing business in that city.

JAMES N. McCUTCHEON, No. 533.

Served one hundred days in Company A., 193d Pennsylvania Volunteers in the Civil War, and nine years in the National Guard of same State. Now a prominent business man in Pittsburg, Pa.

ABRAM M. HARE, Married Descendant, No. 651.

In the dark days of the Civil War, Governor Kirkwood of Iowa offered him a commission as Colonel of the Eleventh Iowa Infantry. He accepted and left his home and business in Muscatine and went to Davenport, where he took an active part in organizing the regiment, after which they were transferred to Benton Barracks, St. Louis, and thence ordered to Jefferson City and to Fulton County, Mo., where they operated against the guerrillas. In the spring they were ordered to Pittsburg Landing, taking a prominent part in that battle. Later he was assigned to the command of a brigade under Gen. McClelland, consisting of the 11th and 13th Iowa and 8th and 18th Illinois regiments. During the campaign under Gen. McClelland he was highly commended for brave and meritorious service. He was wounded in battle, after which his health failed, and he was obliged to resign and return to his home, where he lived highly respected until his death many years later.

BENJAMIN F. PITMAN, Married Descendant, No. 580.

Joined Capt. Charles Cotter's gun squad at Ravenna, Ohio, as private, immediately after the firing on Fort Sumter and was mustered into the State service at Camp Taylor at Cleveland, Ohio, April 25th, 1861. After drilling there for a few weeks, the squad was sent home for some unexplained reason.

They were again called together by Captain Cotter and were mustered into the U. S. service at Camp Chase, Ohio, on July 2, 1861, served in Kentucky, West Virginia, and Tennessee under Gen. Cox. He reenlisted in a battery for the 1st Ohio Regiment and was mustered into the U. S. Service at Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 6, 1861, for three years as Battery A., 1st O. V. L. A. Was discharged, Jan. 31st, 1862, by Gen. Buell to become Assistant Surgeon, U. S. V., served with 1st O. V. L. A. On May 9th, 1864, was commissioned Assistant Surgeon of the 171st Ohio N. G. and mustered into U. S. service same day for one hundred days. Final discharge at expiration of this service Aug. 20, 1864, and returned to civil life and practice of his profession as physician.

In addition to the foregoing, I have no doubt there are many others who may have served their country in some of the wars, whose records I should like to have had, but owing to failure to report am not able to give.

Then, again, among the descendants and those who married descendants there are many ministers of the gospel, physicians, legislators, lawyers, artisans, mechanics, etc., who have achieved success deserving of note, and the history of which would make a large and interesting book and one which any descendant might well be proud of, while the class under the head of "worthless or disreputable" would be found exceedingly small.

COPY OF THOMAS BARNES' WILL
(Not a facsimile of the spelling)

The Last Will and Testament of Thomas Barnes Senior dwelling in Middletown in the County of Hartford and Colony of Connecticut is as followeth. I being at present under considerable bodily weakness, yet having the use of my understanding as formerly, yet not knowing the day of my death, and being willing to leave peace behind me among my children when I shall be taken from them, do leave this as my last will and testament after committing my Spirit to God which gave it and my body to a decent burial, I do dispose of that portion of worldly goods which God hath given me as followeth.

IMPRIMES. I give to my eldest son, John Barnes, forty acres of upland which I bought of Mr. Mose and Thomas Wheller, lying together, moreover I give to my said son that land on which his house standeth, bought of old Goodman Wheeler, to run from the front line to the rear of the lots, and I give him also a part of that land I bought of old Goodman Loe, from the front to the common road; moreover, I give to my said son a parcel of meadow beginning at the head of the two Coves and so to run west to the branch that comes out of the great pond, to Brown's line and six rods beyond that branch.

IT. I give to my son Thomas Barnes that parcel of upland where he hath built his house, to lie on the south side from the crooked tree where Mr. Bracet and I parted, to the great chestnut tree and so by the bogie meadow side till they come at the old lines; moreover I give him half my shrubby plain lot; I give him a piece of land I bought of Loe and Ellis; that is from the front line to the meadow; the one half of that I give to Thomas and the other half to my son Daniel; more I give to my said son Thomas the eastward side of the great meadow according as he and Daniel have divided it; as also a piece next my son John's meadow, beginning where John endeth and so running westward till he come within forty rods of the river, all these lands butted as they are already laid out and all that is between the front stake of my son John's next Eliazer Brown till it comes to Thomas More's northward from it, butting on the meadow westward.

IT. I give to my son Daniel Barnes all that upland on the north side of my son Thomas is as far as my land goeth and half my lot on the shrube plain and of that I bought of Andrew Loe; I give him that part from the common road to the rear of that lot and that half mentioned by Thomas: moreover I give him, my said son, the westward side of the great meadow as Thomas and he have divided, with that piece below, next butting on Brown's line abutting on the river westward.

It. I give to my daughter, Mercy Jacobs, twenty upland, that is that land on which their house stand to her and her youngest son, to them and their heirs moreover I give to her twenty shillings to be paid her John after my decease.

It. I give to my daughter, Martha, twenty shillings John to pay her it after my decease.

It. I give to my daughter Elizabeth, twenty shillings Daniel to pay it her after my decease.

It. I give to my youngest son, Maibee Barnes, all Middletown, after my wife's decease, all but the house lot at my decease. The house and home lot I will to my loving wife during natural life; moreover I give my said wife two cows and my will is that my son Maibee shall look after and provide for the keeping of these two cows, which I give my wife; my will is my wife shall have all my movables during her natural life.

It. I give to my daughter, Abigail, three pounds and my son, Maibee to pay it her after my decease.

I give also to my loving wife all my Bees and Sheep, if there be any remaining. My will is that after my decease all my utensils belonging to the house shall be my son Maibee's, and what cattle shall be remaining after my decease I give to my son Maibee.

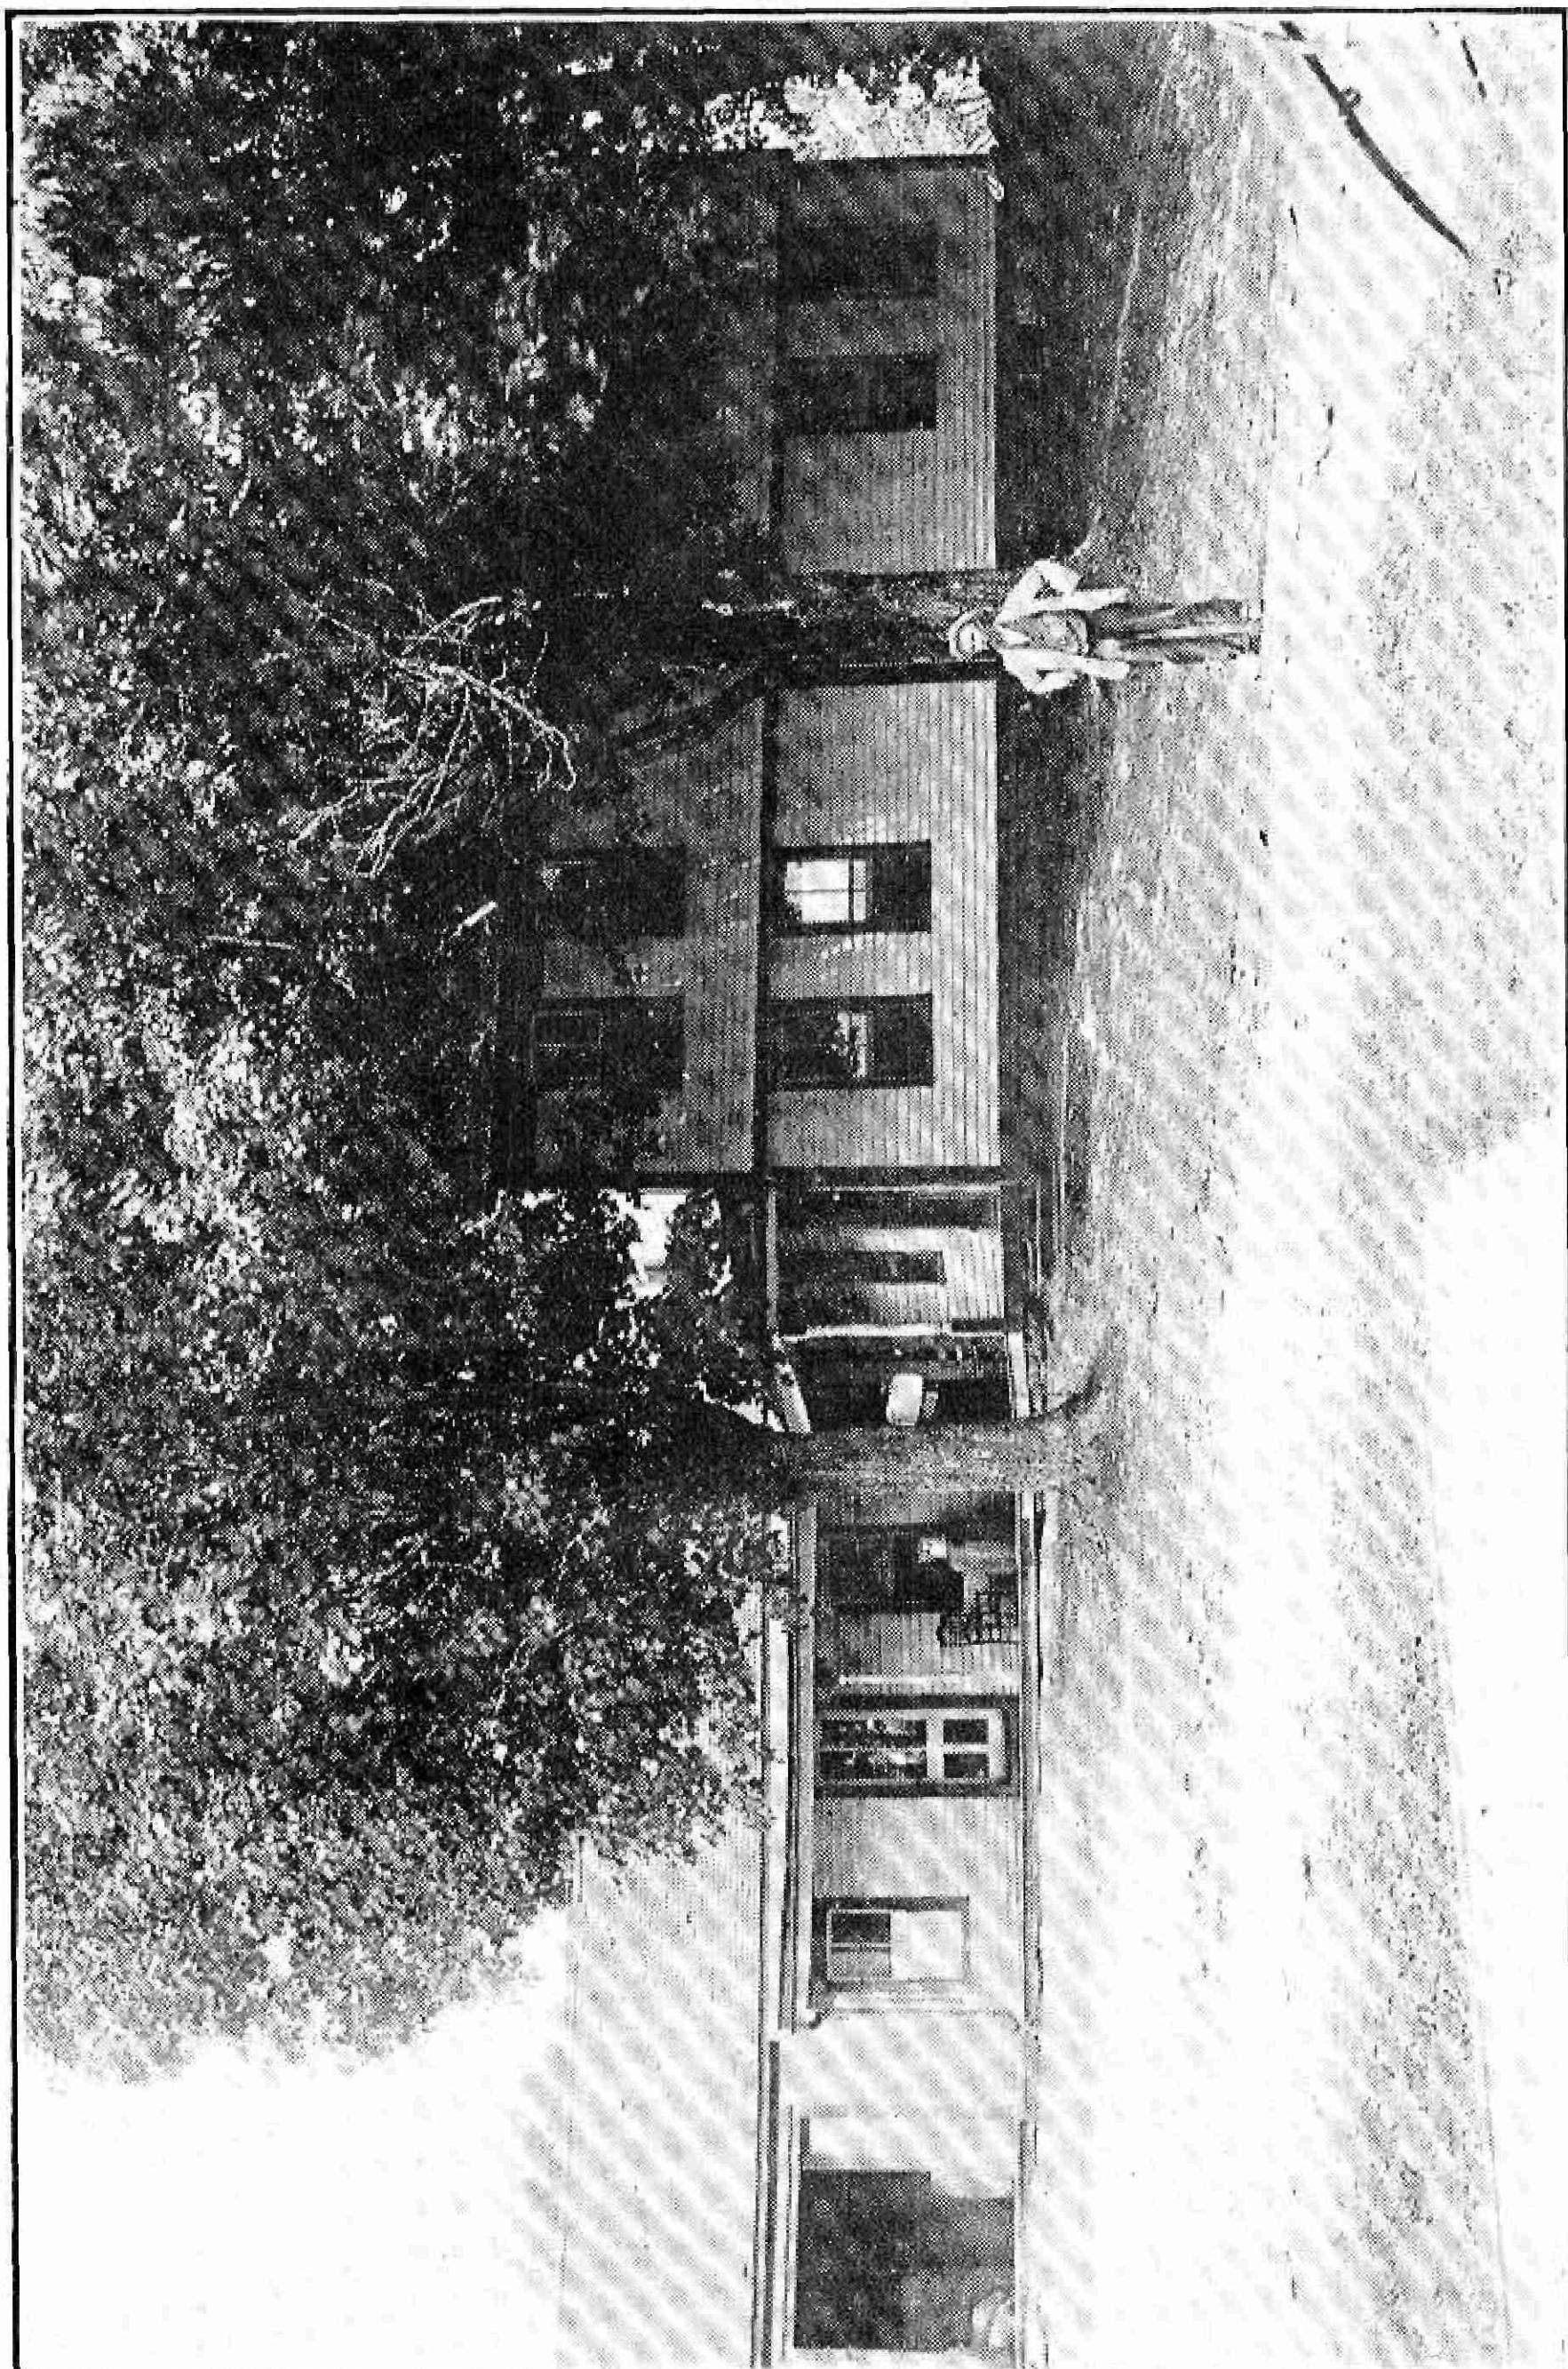

Further, my will is that as I have done to my ability for my sons John and Thomas and Daniel, so I expect and it is my will that John and Thomas shall pay to their mother five bushels of wheat a year, yearly during the time of her widowhood and Daniel five bushels of wheat yearly during the same time.

THOMAS BARNES.

February 25, 1683.

Signed in the presence of us,

DANIEL HARRIS, Junior,
JOHN HALL, Senior.

THE HOUSE BUILT BY CAPT. BENJAMIN BARNES IN 1772-1774 IN WEST GRANVILLE, MASS.

The man in the foreground is Mr. W. R. Champlin. The house was in the possession of Mr. Champlin's father and himself from 1850 until 1908. It has been re-covered not less than three times, but the original frame is good for another hundred years. Photograph taken in 1909.

MEMORANDA

CAPTAIN BENJAMIN BARNES
ANCESTORS

The first authentic information we have of these was Thomas Barnes, who was in New Haven, Conn., when he became of age and shared in the land distribution. It is believed that he came from England in 1636, but no trace can be found of him until we find him in New Haven, as above. "American Ancestry," page 162, says, "he was born in England about 1623, was in New Haven before 1639." He married in 1647, Elizabeth, whose family name is not known. They resided in New Haven, until 1660-65, then moved to North Haven and from there to Middletown, Conn., where he died in 1693.

359. ARETUS BENJAMIN, b. May 28, 1826; d. Jan. 8, 1847.

A little romance regarding the marriage of Benjamin, Jr., and Abigail Robinson is worth relating. Benjamin was courting Abigail's sister while another young man was courting Abigail. These young men were friends, and the story goes that a few weeks before the weddings were to take place one of the young men proposed to the other that they swap girls, to which the other agreed. When the girls were consulted they also agreed, and both couples were married shortly after this exchange at the same time, New Year's eve, 1799.

THE PROBABLE ENGLISH ANCESTRY OF THE CURTISS FAMILY OF STRATFORD, CONN.

(From Mr. Frederic H. Curtiss' Genealogy of the Curtiss Family.)

Most of the historians have supposed that William Curtiss, — who came to New England in the ship "Lyon," which sailed from London June 22, 1632, landing in Boston on Sunday, Sept. 16, 1632, — to have been the husband of widow Elizabeth Curtiss of Stratford, Conn. (I have positive proof that this is not correct, although he had sons named William and John, but they lived and died in Roxbury, Mass., where their father settled; and their mother's name was Sarah). The husband of Elizabeth, or Widow Curtiss, was John, and believed to be a brother of the above William of Roxbury, who came from Nazing, England.

The Nazing records also show the following entries:

John Curtiss, baptized Sept. 15, 1577.

John Curtyce married Elizabeth Hutchins, April 19, 1610, and the following baptisms supposedly those of their children:

John Curtiss, Feb. 26, 1614-15; William Curtiss, June 21, 1618; Thomas Curtiss, March 12, 1619-20.

John Curtiss, aged 21, sailed in the ship "Safety" Aug. 10, 1635. In 1639 John Curtiss was a resident of Wethersfield, Conn., and owned land in that town, on what was then called "The North Road to the Great Meadow." John Curtiss left Wethersfield in 1640 for Cuphag (now Stratford) and his name disappears, but we find the name of widow Elizabeth Curtiss and her two sons on the earliest records of Stratford. It is therefore probable that the father died soon after arriving at Stratford, or on the journey.

The Curtiss family was, from all accounts, one of the most prominent among the first settlers of Stratford, and it has been claimed that they suggested naming the town Stratford, after Stratford-on-Avon, England.

That the name Curtiss was well known in Shakespeare's town is shown by the fact that that poet used it as one of the characters in "The Taming of the Shrew."

A. T. BARNES.

ELIZABETH CURTISS, or as she is generally called on the Stratford Town Records, "Widow Curtiss."

Died, June, 1658, and her will was proved Nov. 4, 1658, at Fairfield, Conn., and reads as follows:

WILL OF ELIZABETH CURTISS

(Fairfield Probate Records, Vol. 1648-56, Page 17.)

THE CURTISS COAT OF ARMS

In the archives of the College of Heraldry in London, England, records of arms borne by persons of the name of Curtiss spelled as follows: Curtis, Curtys, Curtes, Curteis, Curteys, Curties, Curtyes. (Originally the name was spelled with an o in place of u).

These records show that a coat of arms was confirmed to John Curtis of London, Gent. (supposed to be the husband of Elizabeth and father of John and William of Stratford, Conn.), son of William of Hatton, in the County of Warwick, Gent., son of Eustace of Malestock in the said County, Gent., son of William, who was son and heir of John of Malestock aforesaid, Gent., by Sir Richard St. George Clarencieux, the 9th of May, 1632, in the 8th year of the reign of King Charles I, and that a crest was granted at the same time. In the visitation of London in 1633, the name of John Curtis does not appear, so it is probable that he left for New England soon after having these arms confirmed.

The following quotations are from the report of the Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society of Boston regarding the bearing of arms:

“ As there is no person and no institution in the United States with authority to regulate the use of coats of arms, your Committee discourages their display in any way or form.”

“ The mere fact that an individual possessed a painting of a coat of arms, used it upon plate, or as a bookplate or seal, or had it put upon his gravestone, is not proof that he had a right to it.”

“ A coat of arms did not belong with a family name, but only to the particular family, bearing the name, to whose progenitor it had been granted or confirmed; and it was as purely individual a piece of property as a homestead. Hence it was as ridiculous to assume arms without being able to prove the right, as it would now be to make use of a representation of the Washington mansion at Mt. Vernon, and claim it as having been the original property of one's family, unless bearing the name of Washington and being of the line of those who owned it."

The above imprint is believed to be a facsimile of the coat of arms confirmed to John Curtis of London, Gent., as previously explained.

The curious descriptions of these arms on the records is as follows:

"Azure a fesse dancette between three ducal crowns or, Crest: A Lion in his ppr. collers Issuing forth of his collers Or an Azure & thereon a fesse dancette Or Mantled gules double argent."

This cut was kindly loaned the writer by Mr. Frederic Haines Curtiss of 63 Bay State Road, Boston, Mass., author of "A Genealogy of the Curtiss Family: being a record of the descendants of Widow Elizabeth Curtiss who settled in Stratford, Conn., 1639-40."

This book contains much information of the Curtiss family in England and gives the different branches of the family from Widow Elizabeth down to 1900.

These books can be had by applying to Mr. Curtiss, who still has a few copies for sale. To the kindness of Mr. Curtiss the writer is indebted for valuable information herein.

079. DAVID CURTISS, 2d.

Son of David, g. son James, g. g. son Benjamin, g. g. g. son John, g. g. g. son Elizabeth.

Soon after the birth of David 2d, about 1756, his father, with his family and several other prominent families, left Durham and settled in West Granville, Mass.

He was in after years one of the foremost settlers and called Esquire Curtiss, and was a devout Christian. He died in Granville, and on his tombstone is this verse:

"In his life we saw the Christian virtues shine;
In his death the Christian hope appeared divine."

Probably others of which I have no authentic record. I have unauthenticated information that he had a son, David, a lawyer, who married Mamie Static Curtiss, a cousin. He was a drinking man. They had one daughter, and he afterward ran away and was never heard of afterward. Later his wife (probably divorced) married a wealthy man named Seymour of Otis, an adjoining town.

Was born in Granville, where he resided until 1807, when his son Chauncy B. (my step-father, who married my mother as his second wife) was ten years old, when he sold the old homestead and removed to Portage County, Ohio, the town of Charlestown (so named then or afterwards), where he died six years later.

A story of their trip I have heard father Curtiss tell, in relating the trials of the journey with ox teams. One day, just after entering the State of Ohio, one of their wagons got mired (which was not an uncommon occurrence) and could not be pulled out by the oxen, so they had to resort to cutting poles to pry it out. As they were at work a man on horseback came along, and seeing the desperate situation they were in, dismounted and gave a helping hand, with energy and good judgment. After succeeding and seeing them ready to proceed on their way, he mounted his horse to ride on, with the grateful thanks of the whole party, when the father, Mr. Charles Curtiss, said to him, "I would like to have your name, that I may know to whom I am so greatly indebted." "My name is William H. Harrrison," was the reply, who at that time was a general in the army and thirty-three years later was elected President of the United States.
